CSWC Operational Period Summary

1800 December 08 2018 to 0600 December 09 2018

On 12/06/18, OSPR crew responded to reports of petroleum-based sheen that had originated from an abandoned, derelict vessel at a marina in the Carquinez Strait, Contra Costa County. The crew worked with local and federal agencies, as well as an oil spill response organization to place boom around the vessel, plug potential releases and remove as much of the remaining fuel as possible. OSPR is working with the U.S. Coast Guard to determine the next steps for the response.
